"STANDING OUT EVEN IN GROUPS TO WHICH YOU BELONG"

Conditions and co-operation for LGBTI people who belong to multiple minority groups in the Nordic countries

LGBTI people in the Nordic region belonging to multiple minorities are in particularly vulnerable positions.

These are groups that are exposed to multiple forms of discrimination and marginalisation based on, for example, racism, homophobia and ableism. Studies show that LGBTI people with non-normative functional abilities or a foreign background report higher levels of bullying, violence, threats and hate crime than other LGBTI people.

Several projects funded by the Nordic Gender Equality Fund and the Nordic LGBTI Fund focus on issues affecting LGBTI people belonging to multiple minorities. This publication provides an insight into the Nordic cooperation projects – the challenges they have identified, how they have addressed them and the concrete results they have achieved.
